Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-3, 14, 15, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yencho et al. (6,461,320). Yencho et al. disclose, at least in figures 15-20, 23, and 24; a method of forming an anastomosis, where the method includes providing a unitary, partially tubular anastomosis device (110), connecting or everting an end of a graft vessel (125) around the anastomosis device, delivering at least a portion of the device into a lumen of a target vessel (127) through an opening in the wall of the target vessel, manipulating, radially expanding, or plastically deforming at least a portion of the anastomosis device with an expander (131) to form a first flange (121) positioned in the lumen of the target vessel and spaced apart from the wall of the target vessel.

3. Claims 1, 5-13, and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Swanson et al. (6,113,612). Swanson et al. disclose, at least in figures 2, 3, and 7-11 and in col. 4, lines 54-59, a method of forming an anastomosis, where the method includes providing a stainless steel anastomosis device (10), connecting an end of a graft vessel (120) to the anastomosis device, delivering at least a portion of the device into a lumen of a target vessel (300) through an opening in the wall of the target vessel; manipulating an expander (110) relative to the device in order to form a first flange (40) with a plurality of radially arranged elements positioned in the lumen of the target vessel and spaced apart from the wall of the target (see fig. 10), where the first flange is further moved proximally and substantially linearly into contact with the wall of the target vessel (at 42) providing and connecting a separable holder (220) to the device, and moving the holder (220), where the device includes at least one tab (22) at its proximal end for connecting to the holder (see fig. 7), where manipulating the device includes forming a second flange (20) proximal to the first flange and positioned outside and in contact with the target vessel (see fig. 11), where the graft vessel is penetrated with elements 22; and where manipulating the device includes moving a portion of one element away from a portion of a different (e.g. opposing) element.

Response to Amendment

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new and restated ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
